Get the most out of your membership

Peer Networking & Conversations
Bringing members together to build relationships and learn with and from one another.

Conferences
Three annual meetings - International Exchange, Spring Seminar and Annual Conference - bring together global peers and experts to discuss the role and the future of the Communications function.

PageConnect Groups
New groups of members gathered by industry or topic of interest, with year-round online discussions, webinars, calls and in-person conversations at Page events.

Networking Events
Around 60 smaller regional networking events organized around the world. Join one that’s near you or host one for others.

Content
Brand new research into how the CCO role is evolving - The CCO As Pacesetter - as well as practical resources like frameworks, case studies and best practices. Visit: knowledge.page.org/

Progression Paths
The four Progression Paths - CommTech, Corporate Brand, Culture and Societal Value - made more actionable through content, learning platforms, and in-person learning opportunities. Visit: paths.page.org/

Webinars & Hot Topics
More virtual opportunities to learn from members’ experiences through webinars and to exchange perspectives on critical, timely issues through Hot Topics calls.

PageUp
A fast-growing network of senior members of your teams, Page Up connects the next generation of communications leaders. It holds its own Annual Conference, produces thought leadership and organizes other learning and networking events.

Future Leaders Experience
A two-year executive education program that meets six times for multi-day sessions focused on Page thought leadership. Participants regard this as their most enriching learning experience and many have since become CCOs and Page or Page Up members.

Diverse Future
A weeklong seminar for high-potential, diverse members of your teams. Diverse Future explores issues that help prepare these leaders to get to the next level.

Learning
Helping members stay on top of emerging issues and trends and acquiring critical skills.

Team Development
More programs for your senior team members to network, learn and develop new skills.

I’ve never been part of an organization previously in my career where the caliber of individuals, the depth of their experiences, and most importantly their willingness to share those experiences, was so strong, both when things went really well for them and sometimes lessons learned not to do.

“I believe I’m a Page member now because of my experience at Future Leaders and my stint at Page Up. So I think for anyone who’s in Page today and seeing someone on their team they think has that potential, that’s an investment in their future that I’m convinced will pay off.”
